

Internet Web Site Runs Your Golf League, LeagueBoss.com - It's in a League of its own

"You can now manage your golf league with any brand of computer from any location on earth," said Cliff Curfman, Director of Sales and Marketing for the three year old company LeagueBoss.com. You can make your golf league more fun and exciting than it has ever been. You can even start a new golf league without prior league experience.

LeagueBoss.com is an outstanding golf league Internet tool. It provides everything that a golf league manager or golfing organization could want. The old rule of staying up all night or all weekend to score your golf league has been reduced to fifteen or twenty minutes on league night. You can now party with the rest of the members and have their results instantly.

For the first time a league coordinator does not have to be a master statistician or a handicapping expert. It's so easy anyone can use it. During the initial set-up, "Easy Set-up Wizard Screens" lead you through all the options that apply to your league. You control exactly how you want your league to be run... courses, tee times, teams, handicap, even skins games!

The player's love it because all of the league's information is at their fingertips on the Internet from any computer that they can use. The player can even print any report that he would like. Personal player information is password protected. The player can make public as much or as little as he prefers. Members have online access to league standings, schedules, course information, league rules, club photos and inter league emails and announcements! If a player can't be there to play the next round, he can even find a substitute player online.

LeagueBoss.com is not a just Web page, but an actual program running over the Internet. It's what's called in the Internet trade a "Web Application Program." You just enter your golf league's information and it does all the work. No more uploading, downloading or trying to configure a printer. A large variety of printable reports are available online. Printable scorecards with the player's name and handicaps are available online and can be customized to track statistics like, number of putts, drive distances, greens in regulations, and sand saves.

Some golf courses are providing Internet access to their golf leagues so the players can get the league results before they walk off the course. There are a few game results that the members like to settle during the 19th hole party, if you know what I mean.

Our biggest sales problem is just getting people to take the time to try it. We have found that just about everyone who tries LeagueBoss.com buys LeagueBoss.com. This product truly sells itself.

So we let you try it before you buy it. We even help people set up their golf leagues for free. Even though we are a "dot com company" we still believe in the telephone and direct customer contact and support. Many of our customers have traveled long distances just to visit with us at our offices and talk "GOLF." Well I guess it's true? "If You Build It They Will Come."

Many golf courses are buying LeagueBoss.com for their league members or including it in their golf league fees. The advantage of this site to the golf course is that for the first time they can communicate to each league member directly. While the players are checking out their scores, they also can see course announcements. Through LeagueBoss.com the league players can take advantage of all the special events, services and programs that the golf course offers throughout the year. A special program called Golf Course Announcements and a league member email allows the golf course to communicate limited specials such as open tee times, tournaments, golf outings, and even what is on the menu for the Sunday brunch at its banquet facilities instantly. That's a win / win situation if I ever saw one!

Now the big question. How much is it? Well would you believe it, less than the price of a coke and a hotdog. A special pre-season price offer is $ 5.95 per league player, per season and the substitute players are free! The regular price is $9.95.
